August Meeting Notes

President Dana Blizzard opened the meeting and we reviewed the dates for annual wine competitions. We motioned to keep the deadlines for these events posted on the calendar. The next major wine competition will be The Newport Wine and Seafood. This will be held in January of 2010. There will be more information as we approach the New Year. This will give any member who wants to enter a wine plenty of time to prepare.

What is light, refreshing, and the perfect drink on a hot summer night? That is right! White wines and this was a superb choice for our August West Side Wine Club summer meeting. The wines at our last meeting all had good color, clarity, and finesse. We tasted a Zinfandel with a slight splash of color. Two Gewurztraminers made similarly, neither went through malolactic fermentation. One was a 2007 and the other was a 2008. Then we tried a Chardonnay. All of these wines scored high on my point sheet. They were crisp, clear, and had just the right acidity.

Our next tastings will feature Pinot Noir which is the wine our Willamette Valley climate is famous for producing because of its outstanding quality. I hope to see everyone at this meeting.

Picnic at the Swans

The West Side Wine Club picnic was a big success thanks to the many members who brought delectable dishes of snacks, main courses, desserts, and of course wines. We tasted award winning wines that our talented club members had made. This even included a mead, plus a few potential winners had they of been entered in the Washington County Fair. One of the ones that I found interesting was a chocolate port.

Dana planned carefully, so we had a whole smorgasbord of main meat dishes which included beef, lamb, salmon, and a few others which I am guessing were pork and chicken. Dana really has an eye for detail and we are lucky to have her as our club president. We appreciate everyone who stepped up by bringing main dinner entrees.

It was great to have our club members gather together for a day of feasting and relaxation. We especially want to thank the Swans for holding the picnic at their place. The countryside drive was beautiful on the way to Molalla. The Swan's vineyards were lovely and tenderly cared for, and they have a gorgeous home. We even got to go in their cellar to do some tastings. The evening came to a close with a smaller crowd and a campfire out back.

Willamette Valley Amateur Winemakers Society held its first annual wine competition and WSWC made a great showing. Our members won 2/3 of the ribbons and took Best of Show! Congrats to WSWC Member Ken Stinger for Best of Show and Scott Nelson for Gold.

President's Musings

September 1, 2009

August and September are preparation time for winemakers. We are busy cleaning out the cellar to make way for new wines, while we have to secure our grape orders or mind our own vineyards. It's an exciting time to watch the grapes turn from green to red, then purple and from hard and sour to soft and sweet. And amidst all the work we have to take time to congratulate ourselves for wines well done from years before. Our club had a spectacular showing of ribbons at the Washington County Fair, Oregon State Fair, and Willamette Valley Amateur Winemakers Competition.

I counted two dozen names from our club that earned ribbons at the Oregon State Fair. Three club members earned blue ribbons; John Kahrs for his '08 Viognier, and John Hooson and Don Hoffard for their Viognier and Riesling, which we tasted at our August meeting. Congratulations to all who earned awards!

We had a wonderful afternoon picnic at the Swan's well maintained vineyard. Both the vineyard and the garden were gorgeous to look at and very well cared for. The Swans must have gnomes that pull weeds and tuck vines into place in the middle of the night, as Terry is gone to Alaska most of the summer. Sammy Nachimuthu, and his wife Bria, Terry and Debbie Swan, and Mike Yamrick prepared main dishes and there were as many side dishes as there were bottles of wine! Thanks to all who prepared wine and food for the event.

We are still looking for a volunteer to chair the Awards Gala/Holiday Party, which will be a combined event in January. Please let me know if you can assist with one of these events.

Our next meeting is October 21, 2009 where we will taste Pinot Noir. This will be a chance to really see our club shine as we have many members who know how to make a good pinot. It's one of the best tastings of the years so be sure to put it on the calendar.

Best Wishes for Crush!
